

Stylus Author Information

T&F Editorial Contact

This will also be in your welcome email from Taylor & Francis--your editorial contact will be Heather Jarrow heather.jarrow@taylorandfrancis.com. She is based in NY, so on East Coast time.

Contracts and Royalties

T&F will be given copies of all of your contracts, and the terms of your contracts will be honored in full. They will also have details of any co-publication agreements and/or language rights sales. All royalties from January 1, 2023 will be handled by T&F.

Editorial Transition

John and David are actively working on the transition for the rest of March. Any books already in production will stay with the IBI team here in Virginia. Any new mss will be given to the T&F team to ready for production. We can confirm this with you individually.

Warehousing and Ordering

The Stylus books are staying in our warehouse in Virginia through the end of June. Customers (and you) can still order books via the website and our 800 number—same as always. This means your source codes—the STYAUT code and any particular to your book—will work the same as they have been. The website is also staying the same for this transition period.

Marketing

We will continue to send out new book announcements during the month of March and we will be hosting our March webinar as usual. All other marketing will be covered by T&F. You can continue to reach Patti through March 24.

Contact in Virginia

For questions, orders, source codes you can contact Andrea Ciecierski Andrea@Styluspub.com and Jane Leathem Jane.Leathem@styluspub.com. We will be able to help through the end of June.